In spite of nine spectacular plagues, Pharaoh had repeatedly refused to let the Israelite slaves hold a worship festival in the desert. Finally, Moses warned that Pharaoh would actually beg the Hebrews to leave after the firstborn of Egypt were killed.

1. What do you think the Israelites thought about these instructions?
 - a. This is weird.
 - b. This is great.
 - c. It's about time.
 - d. Let's hope this works.
2. If you were an Israelite, how would you have felt after that fateful night?
 - a. awestruck
 - b. relieved
 - c. worshipful
 - d. sorry for the Egyptians
3. How do you think the Egyptians felt?
 - a. in shock
 - b. angry
 - c. devastated
 - d. repentant
4. Through this event God was bringing "judgment on all the gods of Egypt" (v. 12). What are the gods of our culture? How does the Lord show himself to be more powerful?
5. What was the reason for sprinkling blood on the doorframes?
 - a. The blood of a sacrifice was the most important part.
 - b. The "destroyer" would know which houses to pass over.
 - c. It was an act of faith.
 - d. It put into effect the substitution of the animal's life for human life.
6. What was the primary principle behind the requirement that only animals without defect be chosen?
 - a. It was the least a person could do.
 - b. Defective sacrifices violate God's holiness.
 - c. We should give our best to God.
 - d. A sacrifice without defect pointed toward Jesus.
7. Why did small households need to share the Passover with others?
 - a. to learn to be neighborly
 - b. to make the atmosphere festive
 - c. so food wouldn't be wasted
 - d. so this would be both a community and a family experience
8. How does this story shed light on the purpose and benefits of Christ's death and shed blood? How does the Passover meal remind you of the Lord's Supper?
9. How do rituals, such as communion, help you remember what God has done for you? How can you share those memories and values rather than just keep them to yourself?
10.  What has been one of your family's most meaningful traditions?
 - a. birthdays and anniversaries
 - b. holidays, especially _____
 - c. family nights
 - d. special meals
 - e. family communion services
 - f. other: _____
11.  How could you get your children more involved in planning and celebrating family traditions? Are there ways you could enhance the spiritual dimension of your traditions?
